

Code of Conduct & Ethics Policy

Effective Date: January 1, 2024 | Version 2.0

1. Introduction

This Code of Conduct outlines the ethical standards and behavioral expectations for all employees, contractors, and representatives of the company. Adherence to this code is a condition of employment.

2. Workplace Behavior

All employees are expected to treat colleagues, clients, and visitors with respect and dignity. Bullying, harassment, intimidation, or any form of discrimination based on race, gender, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, or national origin is strictly prohibited. Conflicts should be resolved professionally and escalated to HR if unresolved. Employees must maintain a positive and collaborative work environment.

3. Anti-Harassment Policy

Sexual harassment, including unwanted physical contact, verbal abuse, and inappropriate digital communication, is a serious violation and grounds for immediate termination. Employees who experience or witness harassment must report it to HR or via the anonymous hotline. All reports are investigated promptly and confidentially. Retaliation against anyone who files a good-faith complaint is strictly prohibited.

4. Ethics & Conflict of Interest

Employees must disclose any financial interest, personal relationship, or secondary employment that could create a conflict of interest with their duties. Acceptance of gifts or hospitality from vendors exceeding $50 in value must be reported to HR. Insider trading based on non-public company information is illegal and strictly prohibited.

5. Confidentiality

Employees must protect confidential company information including business strategies, financial data, customer lists, and proprietary technology. Confidentiality obligations continue for 2 years after employment ends. Unauthorized sharing of confidential information may result in legal action.

6. Dress Code

Business casual attire is required Monday through Thursday. Fridays are casual dress days. Client-facing meetings require business professional attire regardless of the day. Clothing with offensive graphics, slogans, or imagery is never permitted. Remote employees are expected to dress professionally for video calls.

7. Use of Company Resources

Company equipment, software, and networks are for business use. Limited personal use is acceptable provided it does not interfere with work or violate other policies. Employees must not install unauthorized software on company devices. All activity on company networks may be monitored in accordance with applicable law.

8. Social Media

Employees must not post confidential information or make statements that could damage the company's reputation on social media. Personal social media accounts are the employee's responsibility. Any official company communications must be approved by the Marketing department.

9. Reporting Violations

Employees are encouraged to report suspected violations of this Code via the HR portal, directly to HR, or through the anonymous ethics hotline at 1-800-XXX-XXXX. All reports are taken seriously and investigated impartially. Knowingly filing a false report is itself a violation of this Code.

10. Disciplinary Action

Violations of this Code may result in disciplinary action ranging from a verbal warning to immediate termination, depending on the severity of the violation. Serious violations such as harassment, theft, or fraud will result in immediate termination and may be referred to law enforcement.
